“Boston Scientific Ordered to Pay $73 Million Over Implant”

We know you are really busy. Most women who have had this mesh have had a lot of challenges and stress in their lives. There's a way we can help – we can get you a fair settlement for your mesh case.

You recently requested a package of information about your mesh injury. We haven't received it back yet and we have assembled an “A” team who is negotiating with the manufacturers who haven't yet settled and who have already received settlements with other ones on behalf of women like you.

Remember there is no cost of obligation to you if you don't have the mesh. But if you do they are inherently defective and the problems you have now or will have in the future won't go away.

It is unfortunate that mesh manufacturers knowingly sold defective mesh devices to hundreds of thousands of women, which resulted in significant pain, injuries and additional surgeries.

A legal settlement can help with past and future medical bills and other expenses you may have.

If the manufacturers settle and are only willing to include women who have their paperwork in, you may very well lose your rights forever.

These mesh cases are among the worst seen in over 20 years. The manufacturers want to ignore you and pretend this didn't happen or that if you are in too much pain and so frustrated with where you are with your injuries, you won't get your paperwork back, get additional medical care or go after compensation from them – which allows them to walk away from what they have done to women very cheaply.

Should these drug device companies get away with KNOWINGLY leaving hundreds of thousands of women significantly injured, in severe pain, disabled, facing years and a lifetime of more medical treatment, abandoned, divorced, or not able to enjoy basics in a marriage or in life?

Getting your paperwork in allows you to be an advocate for yourself – for all the women out there that have been wronged by this off label device used on you.

You know the drill. If we don't stand together and fight to have voice, none will be given to you.

We need 15 minutes of your time to help go over your paperwork. If you send it back and you don't qualify, there is no fee. You'll simply be rejected but at least you have preserved your rights.

If you did have the defective mesh, it is defective and then your compensation can be fought for. No trials, court dates, etc. The lawyers will just need basic information to pull your records and find out how they can get you what you deserve but to do that we need your contract, HIPAA, and intake completed, if you haven't already.

The lawyers are available to talk with you through the process about their findings with you specifically. And there is no cost if they can't help you – but they can't help you if you don't return your paperwork – paperwork which would take 15 minutes to go through and pop in the self-addressed envelope we sent you with the paperwork.

Please help us help you and give yourself a voice.
